Part 3: Written (2 marks)

1. How is the concept of Saint-Soldier represented by the Khanda? (2 marks)
- A saint soldier is someone who has the characteristics of both a saint and a soldier. The Khanda has two kirpans on both sides, the Miri on the right and the Piri on the left. The Miri represents Shakti, physical power and ability to fight in combat and therefore ties in with the soldier part of saint-soldier. The Piri represents Bhagti, spiritual power and the internal fight against the 5 evils by doing naam and simran, therefore it ties in with the saint aspect of saint-soldier.
